SINE QUA NON

Sine Qua Non is Latin for “absolutely indispensable”, the winery has risen to be one of the top Syrah producers in the US, and due to the tiny quantities of wine made and the recent 98-100 point scores by Parker, Sine Qua Non is now unquestionably regarded as a “California Cult” wine Producer. We at Hap’s are grateful to be able to have Sine Qua Non as part of our wine offerings to our customers.

HARLAN

Founded in 1984, Harlan Estate is a winegrowing estate in the western hills of Oakville, California – in the heart of the Napa Valley. Harlan wines possess all the elements of greatness - individuality, power combined with elegance, extraordinary complexity, remarkable aging potential, and compelling richness without ponderousness. The Maiden represents the second selection from the estate. It is a highly detailed and sumptuous wine, remarkably faithful to the vineyard's pedigree. Accordingly, the resemblance to her "big sister" is unmistakable. Harlan, The Maiden, Bond and Promontory are all under the umbrella of one philosophy, one team. As Harlan is one of the Best of the Best, It is an honor to have the following wines to offer.

SAXUM

Saxum Vineyards and wine grower Justin Smith is focused on producing Grenache, Syrah, and Mataro based blends from the Willow Creek District of Paso Robles. Saxum respects their land and farm everything sustainably without chemical fertilizers, herbicides, or pesticides. Saxum's name comes from the family's tradition of giving out rock-related names. Justin's father is nicknamed "Pebble" and his siblings are "Brick," "Rocky" and "Sandy." Smith decided to give rock names to his wines and vineyards. Saxum is Latin for "stone."
